

Happy Thanksgiving!

November 2020

"Over the river and through the woods to Grandmother's (Grandfather's) house we go. The horse knows the way to carry the sleigh through the white and drifted snow. Over the river and through the woods oh, how the wind does blow. It stings the nose and bites the toes as over the ground we go."

Words: Lydia Maria Child - - Music: Unknown composer

Dear Friend,

Lydia Maria Child wrote the words as a poem in approx. 1844. An unknown composer put it to music. It is sometimes used as a Christmas song by replacing the words "Thanksgiving Day", with the words, "Christmas Day" in later verses. For those of you who have never seen snow, or your Grandparents didn't or don't live where it snows, we would probably sing, "Over the freeway and through the streets to Grandmother's house we go. The car knows the way to carry us through the fog and rain." (Sometimes, I think the car knows the way. I often end up where I am going and don't know how I got there. Hasn't that happened to you?) No, I don't drink alcohol or use drugs of any kind. And, of course, I wouldn't tell a cop or a sheriff that!

I want to say to veterans and the men and women who are currently in military service, "Thank you for preserving our country's independence and the personal freedoms we enjoy in the USA. Without your heroic actions America would not and could not be "The land of the free and the home of the brave". I have said it many times and will say it again, "Freedom is not FREE. It was not in 1776 and is not today!"

Most of you know I believe in real estate as the best way for the common ordinary person to be able to keep up with inflation. How many people do you know that would be able to rent their own home? Not many, Right? Buying a home is one of the biggest financial decisions we will make in our lifetime. The ability to amass wealth over the long term makes real estate the #1 investment for most Americans, despite proven results from stocks and other vehicles. If you are thinking of buying or selling any kind of real estate, call me.

Here's what's happening in the real estate market. According to the Multiple Listing Service, in Orange County there were approximately 2,596 residential properties (includes condos, PUDs, etc.) for sale as of midnight 31 October 2020. During the month of October 2020, there were 3,349 closed sales.

Live authentically. Enjoy!

Ellen

How do we learn to be self-reliant?

It is Holiday Season. We all know that our children watch what we do. Remember, the saying, "Who you are is speaking so loudly, I can't hear what you're saying."

Self-love is one of the most powerful tools and teachings we can give to our children - in a world where they're pressured to conform and perform, and bombarded with images of what success and beauty look like. Self love guides them to stay centered, compassionate, confident and courageous on the inside.

We may not be able to change the big world out there, but we do have the power to teach our children to be self-reliable.

Think about what you do when you have a decision to make. Sometimes, you delay the decision knowing you need time to think about it before you say something that won't benefit you in the long run, or words you will regret and have to make an amends.

"What else could be true in this situation?" Those words have saved me more than once from doing/saying something I would have regretted. Plus, I have said those words when I was looking for an answer to a problem/situation.

Some of the most important words I say to myself when I think something should be different than what it is, are: "Ellen, is it really your business to know the answer to what happened?" The answer is usually "No!" What a relief! Now I can get focused on what is in front of me to do what needs to be done.

Many of us say, "I can handle whatever comes my way by living one day at a time."

Most of us have learned that when we move our bodies, it changes our inner thoughts. When I don't know what else to do, I take a walk. Those endorphins begin moving and I feel better. Ideas come to me when I walk. Amazing!

If you think I could sell your home for the most amount of money in the least amount of time and hassle. Then tell someone. Tell your heirs that you want me to sell your properties, when you are no longer able to contact me.

Acting Techniques You Can Use in Living Your Life!

So, is something in your life not going right? Do you have a yukky landlord? Are you shy? Is there something you need to do and don't want to do? Are you friendless? Are you too serious or offend people by being too intellectual?

Can you imagine putting whipped cream in someone's beard, in their hair, or on their nose, etc. to make them less grumpy when you have a conversation? Or, if you think you are too serious or intellectual, maybe you could imagine yourself with whipped cream in your beard or hair. Would that work? You certainly wouldn't be taken as serious if others saw the whipped cream.

When actors do research for a character, they determine what the character wants in every scene and from their life.

If you could be an actor, actress, what character would you be? Why? What is the one reason you want to be that person? Play a character and see how that character can influences your life., i.e.

Alpha Dog—Bruce Willis, Chris Helmsworth, or Dwayne Johnson

Perseverance—(Winston Churchill)

Playfulness—(Goldie Hawn)

Strength, Humor, Sexiness—Daniel Craig

Flirtatious—Megan Fox

Debonair—Edris Elba, Benedict Cumberbatch

Unflappability—Chris Pine, Robert Downey Jr.

How does your character walk? Short steps or fast paced? Stand—erect, slumped, tense?

What kind of clothing? A hat? Smile—open

And wide or pursed? What kind of animal would you be? What feels different in your body when you play that character? When you know that, you'll remember how to be the character when you want to be different.

Remember, Images are the language of our body and right brain.

How to Tell if Someone is Lying:

Google says, "When someone lies, they may touch their face, nose, etc. and other telltale signs."

David Baldacci says in his book Guilty, Liars touch their nose after lying as lying causes a physical reaction that cuts the flow of blood to the capillaries at the end of the nose and causes a tingling feeling that makes the liar rub the spot. (probably not a direct quote)

Ellen, What are some tips for saving for a home? For getting out of debt, etc.?

WOW! That takes guts to ask for help. I went to some government websites and didn't find what I thought you wanted answers on. I think you want to know how to budget. The best place I have found to learn budgeting—telling the truth and facing reality is Dave Ramsey. I listen to him on IHeart Radio Station, The Patriot AM 1150. He is on various podcasts. He knows what it is like to be where some people are—in the pits!!! When you hear his story, you will definitely know you are at the right place to learn how to get out of debt, save for a home, protect your family, etc. During the radio show

Dave answers questions from people about their finances. Check him out and let me know your thoughts.

Years ago I learned to say, "Not today." when I wanted something and knew it was not in my budget. Sometimes I said, "Someday, but not today."

"Seabiscuit"

Yes, it is an old movie. Yes, it is about the famous race horse. The fact that Seabiscuit won is special because he was smaller than his competition. "Seabiscuit is the Horatio Alger hero of the turf, the horse that came up from nothing on his own courage and will to win." Saturday Evening Post, 27 April 1940.

Seabiscuit was sold to automobile entrepreneur Charles S. Howard. The new horse trainer hired a boy who he saw fighting a gang figuring he and the horse had something in common. The boy's father had told him years ago he had a gift to race horses. Seabiscuit was the grandson of the race horse champion, Man o' War. He beat War Admiral, who was the son of Man o' War.

Movie quotes: "You don't throw a life away just cause it's banged up a bit." (Seabiscuit's trainer) "You either pack up and go home or keep fighting." (Seabiscuit's owner) See the movie.
